

Paul Bokrossy, P. Eng.
Zimmark Inc.

Paul Bokrossy is a senior VP with Zimmark Inc., an on-site technical services firm that provides fluid performance management services to industry. Paul graduated from Chemical Engineering at the University of Toronto in 1989 and started his professional career building and commissioning complex process control strategies for industry. When joining Zimmark in 1998, his unique experience and industry knowledge helped to transform Zimmark from a company focused on providing on-site recycling services, to one that developed integrated fluid condition management and fluid maintenance solutions designed to reduce costs and address root cause process issues.
