A Thriving Lubricants Industry Means A Thriving American Economy!

ABOUT ILMA

Since 1948, ILMA has been the voice of independent lubricant companies that produce over 30 percent of all automotive lubricants and 75 percent of the metalworking fluids and other specialty industrial lubricants sold in America. ILMA members are bedrock companies, most are still privately owned, and many have been family-owned for generations; they help customers find custom solutions to their challenges. ILMA members don't drill or refine, but they often work with major refiners and distributors.
